What is your mission statement?	This is a proposed entity under consideration, ideally as a consortium of existing schools of higher education, municipalities and area professionals. The desired outcome is the offering of curricula related to the restoration of historic structures. Those completing the program would receive an associates degree. Graduates would be qualified to manage historic restoration projects, possibly as licensed Virginia general contractors.

Describe your suggested project (2-3 sentences).

At this point in the concept's development, I am requesting help in the research of available grants and in recommendations to form a legal entity in pursuit of the grants. This information would help identify the appropriate partners in the Petersburg area who could help bring the concept to fruition.

Describe the needs met by this project. How will it improve your service to the community?

I think the raw materials are already here to form such a school, but we need some help in identifying financial and community resources. There already is a demand for this type of school as evidenced by the number of historical restoration projects underway across Virginia that often are inadequately managed.

Does your project require any of the following special skills or experience?

Yes, legal research and writing.

How important would you consider this project to your organization's ability to fulfill its mission?

extremely critical to our mission

How would you describe your availability to meet with students during the project period?

with prior planning, in person meetings are fine

What deliverables or final products would you like at the conclusion of the project?

I would like recommendations on next steps to pursue the formation of a legal entity whose purpose will be to pursue grant funding, working with one or more schools of higher learning.

Are there any deadlines or event dates we should be aware of?

no

If there is a date or deadline, please describe its relevance to the project.

Does your project require confidentiality?

No

If confidentiality is required, please explain.
